

This book comprises a collection of insights and strategies for study. A no-nonsense, no holds barred and funny approach to providing advice. The collection was initially published as the well-received blog Word on the Wire. The advice and tips stem from many years teaching study, writing and thinking skills. The aim is to use humour to provide much needed advice and generate real enthusiasm for learning. The collection is essentially a pocket guide: a mobile mentor. It starts with tips on managing reading, moving to academic writing, then to essays and analysis. This is followed by general study advice and how to prepare for (and survive) exams. Most posts also contain what was originally the tongue-in-cheek challenge for the week. Read it from start to finish, or pick and choose the topics as you need them.
